H. H. BLACK,
DENTIST,
(Late from the Cincinnati College of Dentists,)
Office and Laboratory, No. 10, Alder street,
Four Doors from Front, Portland, Ogn.

HAVING secured the services of Dr. C. H. MACK, formerly of New York city, and late of St. Louis, who is an experienced and skillful Dentist, I am now prepared to manufacture and insert Artificial Teeth by the following methods, namely: GOLD, SILVER, RUBBER, AMBER, PORCELAIN BASE, GUM ENAMEL, RUBBER ATTACHMENT, CHEOLITE, CONTINUOUS GUM, MICA and ENAMELED PLATE WORK. Some kinds of this work is recommended above all others, and needs but an inspection to prove its superiority for cleanliness, durability and life-like appearance to any artificial teeth in use.

Filling and cleaning teeth, and all operations in Dental Surgery, either mechanical, operative or surgical, performed in the most thorough and highly finished manner. None but the most permanent and finished operations performed, and no inducements to patients by low priced or roughly finished operations. I use no cement in filling teeth, and seek in price to make no competition with cheap Dentists; and desire the patronage of such persons only as wish their operations performed in the most perfect and skillful manner.

Operations that fail to give satisfaction need not be taken or paid for. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Indigent persons who are unable to pay full professional charges will call before and after office hours. nov4tf

One of the Richmond papers, of the 31st of October, contains a notice of the Southern peace propaganda, which we copy:

[illegible] of the French Consuls from [illegible] Charleston and New Orleans. M. [illegible] resident here, is expected [illegible]

[illegible] will be [illegible]. Beyond [illegible]

[illegible] date says:

[illegible]

Charleston Mercury of the [illegible] of November contains the following in relation to the apprehended attack on the city by the Federals:

"At the regular meeting of the City Council, held on Tuesday last, the Mayor stated that, in accordance with the resolution passed at the last meeting, he had conferred with Mr. Forman, Chairman of the commission appointed by the Governor and Council for providing for the removal of the women and children from the city in the event of an attack, and found that the Commissioners were progressing in the work assigned them. He also had an interview with Adjutant-General Jordan, (Gen. Beauregard being absent,) and was informed by him that no provisions could be expected from the army for non-combatants.

Now, there can be no doubt that many non-combatants would not be able to leave, and as it was reasonable to conclude that none of the merchants who usually procured supplies for the city would bring much of a stock to it while it was menaced by the enemy, it became the duty of the city authorities to take measures to insure the necessary supplies. He, therefore recommended that a Commission be appointed for that purpose.

On motion of Alderman Williams, the following Committee was appointed: Aldermen Williams, Ravenel, Cobia, Chaffee and Salinas.

THE ROAD TO RICHMOND.—The road from Aquia creek to Richmond is now the principal point of attraction to newspaper readers. For the further and better understanding of our readers we copy from the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, date of 22d Nov., the clearest descriptive article that we have seen on the subject:

"In marching towards Richmond from Fredericksburg, the army cannot depend upon the Richmond and Fredericksburg railroad for supplies. The enemy will certainly injure and destroy the work, as they always do, and it will be more expeditious to supply the army by common transportation, though making slow progress, than to wait to repair the railroad and rebuild its numerous bridges. It will be remembered that when Gen. McDowell held Fredericksburg, his pickets extended south to Bowling Green, 20 miles from Fredericksburg, and on the east side of the railroad. The route to that place lies alongside the railroad, and is practicable for the march of the army; but south of it there are no roads leading direct to Richmond, while the swampy character of the country is a serious obstacle to military movements. The army must, therefore, march west of the railroad, close to it and parallel. The route will lie to the left of the small village of Chancellorville, through Thornburg and Childsville, towards Beaver Dam, a station on the Virginia Central railroad 35 miles north of Richmond, and the same distance southwest of Fredericksburg. The roads by this route, or any other to Richmond, except by railroad, are common country highways, affording the worst facilities for military movements. The streams are not large, but present difficulties in their number and character. Six miles south of Fredericksburg is Massaponax creek, [illegible] and further south [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING DEC 25 1862

Gov Pickering's Message

The Governor of Washington Territory has no part in the legislation for the Territory but it is still his duty to call the attention of the Legislature to matters requiring their action Governor Pickering has done this in a Message which deserves the high praise of being called a common sense document It was received by the two legislative bodies on the 17th inst and the Council ordered 1 500 copies printed the House 3,000

Governor Pickering advises the Legislature to authorize the codification of the laws, and states, in that connection that there are but few copies of the complete statutes of the Territory in existence East of the Cascades Many statutes have had their vitality destroyed by subsequent legislation No single year's legislation in consequence can be accepted as the law of the Territory except the last The decisions of the Supreme Court should also be appended to the Code The practice of granting divorces by the action of the Legislature is condemned and it is recommended that the matter be left entirely in the hands of the Courts

The new condition of affairs arising from the large immigration overland to the Eastern counties, calls for new mail routes and further surveys of the public lands, The first is a subject for memorialization to the Federal Congress, on the second point, it is shown that there are but 3,000,000 acres of land surveyed in the entire Territory, which is but one sixtieth of its area The salaries of the Registers and Receivers of the Territorial Land Offices have been reduced to $500 per annum, and fees making, in all, not more than $600 per annum Their duties are onerous and increasing in importance, and Congress should be memorialized to increase their salaries The Indian title to the mining regions should be extinguished and the possibility of a war with the savages averted The endowment of an Agricultural College should be secured by a grant of land from the General Government Military instruction should be imparted by a school established by the Territory and endowed by Congress We suggest that rudimentary instruction in military matters might be taught at the Agricultural College, and ought to be The establishment of telegraphic lines of communication, the building of the Pacific Railroad, the care of the Insane and Idiotic, the construction of a Military road from the North branch of the Columbia river to the Sound, the redemption of white captives among Indians, the measures necessary to protect life in the Indian country and the future prospects of the Territory, are all perspicuously and ably treated upon Governor Pickering closes with this paragraph;

> Fellow-citizens, I leave these views with you It will be my duty, as well as pleasure, to co operate with you in furthering the interests of the people of this Territory Let us unite to elevate their moral, social, and political virtue Let us teach the youth to revere him whose name she bears, that they may ever be loyal to that Government which he contributed so largely to establish. Let us frown down treason, or sympathy with it, by our steady adherence to the Government in its every effort to suppress this rebellion Let each one of us stand by the Constitution and Union as the only harbor of National safety Thanking God we are yet exempt from the ravages of war but feeling none the less the pangs of woe at our country's affliction She will yet ride successfully through the storm of treason and rebellion and survive the great crisis now being undergone Out of this war America must emerge brighter more powerful, and dearer than ever to every love of human rights God grant that our most anxious hopes may be realized In Him we trust, and our prayers cannot be in vain

MARITIME RIGHTS —During the war between France and Austria in 1859, the United States made a proposal to the European powers that the rights of a blockading squadron should be restricted simply to capturing vessels carrying articles contraband of war They proposed an immediate application of the principle to the French blockading squadron off Trieste and Venice Had this offer been accepted, the United States would to day be bound by it, and England and France could have cotton in abundance The English are now lamenting their short-sightedness in not accepting it They are also becoming converts to the doctrine that neutral ships make neutral goods, although they have spent hundreds of millions in maintaining the contrary In a Parliamentary debate on this question, Mr Bright stated that the American war, of 1812, which was waged in opposition to the interests of neutrals, cost the British merchants 2,500 ships, valued at $107 000 000 all of which were captured by the Americans in two years At that time the British merchant tonnage was only 3 500 000 but now it reaches the enormous amount of 13,000,000 If the Americans had again occasion to go to war with the British, they would count the value of their captures by hundreds of millions

POSTAL MATTERS —The Postal Agent at San Francisco has received commissions for the following postmasters Josiah H Munson, Steilacoom, W T and David C Forbes, Kamilchie, W T The following persons have been appointed postmasters John D West, Port Orford, Oregon Hezekiah Davis, New Dungeness, W T and A C Jones Lebanon, Oregon A new office has been established at Auburn Oregon, and W F McCrarey appointed postmaster

News from the British Possessions and the North-west

We have files of the C[illegible] to the 18th of December from Victoria, from which we make up our summary

John Walsh, alias Oregon Jack, and Mel[illegible] are in trouble at Victoria They are in jail on a charge of being bad characters. Walsh has figured in Portland and will find it difficult to prove a good character, we fear

The enemies of Mr Victor Smith, Collector at Port Angeles W T, put in circulation a story to the effect that he had given twelve hundred dollars of the Customs funds to help a newspaper [illegible] in New York or somewhere in New England It was currently circulated here We are happy to have it in our power to disprove the statement We have been shown a receipt given by Mr Smith to [illegible] Allen for $1 632 75 as a deposit in favor of the United States as a donation to the expenses of the present war It is dated at Port Townsend April 10 1862

The British ship R[illegible]dale was lately wrecked in Ross Bay near Victoria She is the same mentioned as being lost in a letter from Olympia to this paper Her cargo consists for the most part of bottled liquors and will be pretty much all saved

The steamer [illegible], which claims the prestige of having been the first steamer that paddled on the Pacific Ocean has now become a Government surveying ship, having been chartered for one year to be used in completing the coast survey of British Columbia

The sloop Leonede arrived yesterday from Bentinck Arm and Queen Charlotte's Island with sixteen passengers. There were five from the Queen Charlotte copper mine She touched at Fort Rupert and Nanaimo

The copper miners are about shifting to Burnaby Island

A miner named [illegible], who had gone on the Leonede from Bentinck Arm was left at the copper mine supposed to be sick with the small-pox

Daniel Howard from Maine who came across from Red River some time ago, also died of small-pox at the same place Another man named Foster was also sick with the same disease

About one third of the Indians who numbered from 800 to 1,000 have died of small pox The disease is not causing so much destruction among them at present There were but two cases among them at Nootsloo[illegible]

Ten or fifteen white men were wintering at Bentinck Arm and one white woman and child Her name is Mullen

Some of the passengers came down to purchase goods to take back

The pack trains will winter at Nancoontlo[illegible] and Bentinck Lakes, hay having been cut for them

Mr Walker an Englishman has built a house at Nootclooch

It is feared that Mr James Fisher, who started from Johnson's Bar, Fraser river, in September, for Bellacoola, is lost, nothing having been heard from since It is supposed he was drowned Fisher is a Scotchman, and was in the service in the Crimea

There were no supplies at Bellacoola till the Leonede arrived with fourteen tons

The Leonede left Bellacoola on Nov 18th and a few days before there was a heavy fall of snow at that place

A female secessionist writes to a secesh paper, "We are now forbidden to write about politics we will study domestic economy" The military is still left—study infantry tactics

It is said that Lord Cowley has delivered a note from Earl Russell to M Thouvenel in which the English Government insists upon the necessity for the peace of Europe that the French troops should leave Rome

It is stated that the plan for the change of the base of operations of Burnside's army was betrayed to the Confederates in a few hours after it was determined upon The traitor ought to be made to change his base of operations and dance on nothing for half an hour

Gen Lee, it is said, has notified the Union authorities that the South will visit the sternest vengeance on the Union troops that may fall into their hands, if Mr Lincoln carries out the provisions of the Emancipation Proclamation

Henry Ward Beecher devotes a column in the Independent, to prove to the editor of the Journal of Commerce that there is no danger of negroes being made equal to white men An old Kentuckian, living in the Egyptian district of Illinois once stated the case in a sentence, which Mr Beecher struggles through a column to make out Says this fine old Corn cracker "I do not dread negro equality, because God has placed me above him in the scale of humanity, and I intend to keep myself there" The question is not debateable. Humanity revolts at the amalgamation of the two races

A HOLBROOK

Proceedings of the Washington Territory Legislature

We make up from the Washington Standard a report of the most notable transactions of the Washington Territory Legislature from the 10th to the 20th inst inclusive

In the House on the 11th, the petition of the people of Clallam county, asking the repeal of the law authorizing the formation of the Dungeness Log Driving Company was referred to the delegation from Clallam and Jefferson

A memorial asking the Secretary of the Interior to order the survey of San Juan Orcas Lopez and contiguous islands was referred to a select committee If the survey of those islands is made the whole question of title will come up between the British and American governments

A memorial relating to a line of steamers from San Francisco to Japan and China was referred to the committee on Commerce and Navigation

A communication from Hon Jas S Turney dated 12th of December was received It sets forth that the House having asked the Secretary to procure maps for its use he has complied by not buying it His reasons are short and sweet 1st I learn it is impossible to procure those approximating to correctness 2d I regard the price asked for such as can be had exorbitant 3d your Honorable body asks for two when one is sufficient and 4th, there is no law authorizing the Secretary to purchase maps for the Legislature this last reason is conclusive The other gentleman who is filling the part of Territorial Secretary Mr F[illegible] [illegible] bought them a map but they will have to give it back again

On the same day the Standing Committees were announced in the Council

Mr McFadden introduced a bill granting the acceptance of the lands [illegible] an Agricultural College There is no grant of lands made for this purpose by Congress so the gentleman's bill is of no account

On the 17th the Council determined to have a map anyhow so they instructed the Sergeant at Arms to procure one

The same day in the House Mr Baker was admitted to represent Nez Perces county

Mr Northrop introduced a memorial asking the establishment of a tri weekly mail from Dalles to Walla Walla

Mr Ferguson ran into Victor Smith's Port Angelos scheme by presenting a memorial asking the establishment of a Custom House at Port Townsend

An act to repeal the poll tax law was opposed by Mr Reed, who thought that it would deprive the mining counties of their principal source of revenue It was debated at length and finally referred to a select committee of which Mr Reed was chairman

A resolution to go into joint convention to elect a Territorial Printer had the wind knocked out of it by a message from the Governor appointing G A Barnes Public Printer The House adjourned after this strategic movement

In the Council, December 18th, Mr Clark withdrew from the committee on Federal Relations Mr Clark is not now ornamenting any committee room with his presence We hope that legislation will go on in spite of this unpromising fact

Mr McFadden introduced a general incorporation act which resembles the act passed by the Oregon Legislature at its last term

In the House on the same day, joint resolutions expressive of the respect of the Legislature for the memory of Isaac I Stevens, and of condolence with his family, were passed

In the Council, December 19th, Mr Bledso introduced an act to create the county of Awahna, which was appropriately referred

Joint resolutions in reference to the death of Isaac I Stevens, were passed unanimously

In the House the same day a resolution setting forth that the Legislature could not elect a Public Printer without making the Territory liable for the cost was summarily tabled

Mr Yantis introduced a bill to create the new county of Stevens and it was read the first time

Mr Smith introduced a bill granting Van syckle and Patem the exclusive right for twenty five years to a ferry, by steam, two miles above and below Wallula, on the Columbia

An act to give to J A Ruthbone and J W Nelson the right to establish a ferry at Tekapa, on Snake river, for five years —exclusive for one mile above and below

On the 20th an act to amend the 10th section of the charter of the Columbia Transportation Company was introduced in the Council

The subject of the codification of the laws was sharply debated, but no final action taken

In the House the same day, that body got on its dignity and expunged all the proceedings from its journal relating to the contested election case of James Lee Ferguson and Justin Chenoweth The provocation was said to be that Chenoweth, the defeated, had published a scurrilous article relative to that body

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

UNITED STATES LICENSES.—Over one hundred and fifty persons doing business in this City for which United States licenses are required, have failed to take them out in accordance with the provisions of the law in the limits of time advertised by the Collector. By this action parties have laid themselves liable for the payment of ten per centum additional to the amount assessed, and the further very heavy penalty of having three times the amount of the total assessment collected from them. The Collector has determined to defer the enforcement of the penalties affixed to delinquents until Saturday next, after which time the law will be put into full effect at once. He is constrained to do this, from the fact that his duties are such that he cannot wait the motion or convenience of individuals. He is compelled to visit each collection district, and can only devote a certain time to each. The Dalles people paid a large proportion of the National Tax before it was due, and there was not, we believe, a delinquent in that district. The people of this place should not allow themselves to be surpassed in alacrity by those of any other.

BROKEN GLASS.—Ordinance No. 88, of this City, punishes any person who deposits glass in the streets by a fine of not less than three dollars, and as much more as the Recorder is allowed to impose by the terms of the City Charter. A gentleman named Swift was ignorant of this excellent provision of our City laws, and inadvertently threw a bottle in the street yesterday evening. Our eagle-eyed Marshal nabbed him, and he having pleaded guilty, was let off with a fine of $3 and costs. He evidently thought it was unjust to be fined for violating a law he knew nothing about.—To the end that none may hereafter plead ignorance, we have written this paragraph.

VERY BAD CASE.—Mrs. Emily Croly lives in the lower part of town, near the Lower Steam Saw Mill. Her husband is absent, and Mrs. Croly is quite defenceless, in consequence. Mr. James Miner was in a state of intoxication on the evening of the 23d inst., and went to Mrs. Croly's house and used vile and insulting language to her. In the language of Mrs. Croly's complaint, he then assaulted "and beat, choked, bruised and injured" her. The case was fully made out before the Recorder, yesterday, and Miner was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, or go to jail twenty days. He gave security for payment.

PRESENT TO THE GOVERNOR.—The patients at the State Insane Asylum have presented Addison C. Gibbs, Esq., the Governor of this State, with an elegant silver pitcher, for the warm interest he has taken in their bodily comfort and spiritual welfare. It was purchased with money earned by themselves, and bears the inscription, engraved by one of their number: "Patients of the State Insane Asylum, to Gov. A. C. Gibbs, Portland, Oregon, 1862." It may be seen, for to-day, at Kuehn's jewelry store, corner of First street and Alder.

CHRISTMAS EVE.—The ceremonies usual on Christmas Eve came off at several churches in this City. The distribution of presents from the "Christmas Trees" was the feature at [illegible] of these exhibitions. There was much fun among the young people, and even the old ones came in for a share of it. Taken altogether, people were as happy as a resolute determination to be so could make them.

EXPORTS.—The Sierra Nevada will take down about 6000 boxes of apples, 500 hides and 100 cases of miscellaneous articles of Oregon produce.

QUICK TIME.—The Hunt arrived from the Cascades yesterday evening before five o'clock. No news from above.

By Overland Telegraph.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE "OREGONIAN."]

SAN FRANCISCO, December 17th.

The tax collector sold two hundred and twenty Blocks this morning. The sale will continue Monday.

The opposition steamship company think they will have a steamer ready by Friday.

The name of the person who jumped from the Steamer Moses Taylor, during the gale, is Royal Nelson.

LATER.—San Francisco, Dec. 18th.—Col. Evans has received orders to take command of the second regiment, California Volunteers, now stationed at Salt Lake.

This morning the Schooner William Irelan sailed for Manzanillo. She goes thence to the scene of the wreck of the Golden Gate for the purpose of recovering, if possible, a portion or the whole of the treasure which was aboard at time of disaster.

Judge Hoffman yesterday rejected the survey of a lot claimed by the heirs of De Haro at the Mission Dolores. The survey includes two fifty-acre lots, whereas the grant is for only one.

Last night a deck hand on Schooner Susan Owens, informed the police that he had been shot by a shipmate, Charles Williams, with a gun loaded with buck-shot; he received the full charge in the face. Williams was arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18th, 4 P. M.—The Steamer Orizaba arrived with mails and passengers via Panama, at 1 o'clock this P. M.

Overland line down,—no Eastern news today.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is entirely avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

White's Fever and Agu-Drops For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville, and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

To Semmes.

The "Pirate's Own Book," Captain Semmes,
  To give every devil his due,
Cannot show in its string of sea-gems
  One more worthy of stringing than you.

Indulge in your gay need, Captain Semmes,
  Of your "tea-kettle" prate, you old screw,
We've a brace that steam faster, and them's
  To a T the tea-kettles for you.

Our whalers you've fired, Captain Semmes,
  For our seamen no mercy you knew;
But in spite of your smart [illegible]
  You'll be whaled till a wail comes from you

You have made one mistake, Captain Semmes,
  British goods you have burned, if 'tis true,
And among England's sage apothegms
  Is "I make all who injure me rue."

So it seems very like, Captain Semmes,
  When John Bull to the facts gets a clue,
He'll send one of his ships from the Thames
  To assist us in bringing you to.

A Mountaineer's Wedding.

Some years ago, while making a tour of the Cumberland Mountains, I stopped to rest for a brief season at the house of an eastern man, who had settled not many miles from the now famous Cumberland Gap. The country was decidedly primitive then, and the people living in it were generally of that rough class often styled "hardy pioneers"—the very people among whom Harris collected the materials for his celebrated "Sut Lovengood" stories.

While breakfasting one morning at the house of my friend, the family was suddenly startled by a rough and loud "Hallo!" from without.

"Hallo, is it?" responded the host, arising from the breakfast-table and opening the door.

"Good mornin', Mart!" shouted the same voice that had disturbed the breakfast party.

"Good morning, Bill! Won't you light? Just taking breakfast."

"No, thank-ee! Hain't got no time to stop. Mam and dad want's you and the old woman to come down to our house this evenin'."

"Indeed! What's up, Bill?" replied my friend.

"Wall, never mind—you can come down and see; and that stranger what's stayin' with you, mam and dad they wants him to come down too."

"Wouldn't like to do it without knowing fust what was expected. Might want to tar and feather us," said the host; and both laughed heartily.

"Oh, reckon not. You all come down and see. Mout be as how some one's a sorter a goin' to git married."

And with that the youth—for it was a youth—knocked his horse with the heels of two stogy boots, slapped him with the reins of a rope bridle, and was off to astonish the next neighbor. And when he was gone, Mr. Wells—the name by which I shall designate my friend—informed me that we were invited to a wedding, to take place that evening at 'Squire Haines, between his daughter Sally, and Pete Moore's son John; and that we must not decline the invitation under penalty of incurring the 'squire's eternal enmity. For my part I had no disposition to decline it.

Evening came, and after brushing up to the best advantage, and down to the best advantage, Mr. Wells and I started to the wedding; Mrs. Wells, being rather indisposed, could not accompany us. On arriving at the 'squire's we found ourselves almost too late, for a large number of people were gathered about the house, and the riders in contest for the bottle had already mounted. The "bottle holders" were up also. I may as well tell you how they were up. Two stumps, from which trees had been cut, stood upon either side of the road, and upon these were poised the officers in question, holding across the way, and at arm's length above their heads, a pole, from which, at a point central between them, dangled the bottle. It was an ordinary quart flask; scarcely ordinary either, for its external decorations of ribbons and strings of bachelor's buttons, to say nothing of an amber-colored liquid within that leaped and flashed in unison to the pulsations of the holders, rendered it somewhat extraordinary in appearance at least.

We mixed with the crowd, and soon after, a native, having discovered that I was a stranger, concluded to give me his especial attention. He seemed to be at a loss how to open the conversation, however; so noticing that he continued to look wistfully into my face, I proceeded to break the ice for him.

"Why do they run for the bottle?" I asked.

"Don't you live in these parts?" said he, without apparently having taken any notice of my question.

"No. This kind of ceremony is new to me."

"Exactly. Wall, you see that are bottle there, don't you?"

I saw it, of course.

"Yes. Wall, that's some of the real old corn juice in it."

Had supposed so myself.

"And you see them are six or seven fellers on their hosses away down yander at the bend of the road?"

Saw them about four or five hundred yards away.

"Wall, when that hat's dropped here they'll all make for the bottle, and the feller what gets here fust and jerks it down, why, hit'll be his'n; and that'll make him hev the right to stand up with the youngsters what's a gittin married, and to pick out a gal what'll stand up along with him, and to kiss the gal fust what's got married arter her man's kissed her, and to give her the first dram, and all sich; and—I say Jones, why don't yer drap the hat and let 'em come, for all hands are ready in the house?"

"Cause why I calkerlate that somethin's the matter with 'em down yonder. They are a gettin' down, an' hitchin' their hosses an' a rollin' up their sleeves, an' a haulin' off their coats. B'lieve it's a fight."

To talk of a fight was to talk of fun and fun was the life and soul of the mountaineers; consequently away they went, near every guest, full tilt down the road toward the starting point. And it was astonishing to see how quick they overcame the intervening distance. Scarcely a pause, and back they came, stringing along like a herd of sheep, the active running along with ease, and the more lubberly bringing up the rear, and exerting themselves almost to death to keep up with the leaders.

"What's the fuss?" shouted those who had tarried at the house, as soon as their curious and fun-loving friends had got in speaking distance.

"Oh—nothin'—much," responded the leader of the flock, between his rapid respirations; "only a d—d fool [illegible] the hosses sideways, and then they [illegible] to—run it [illegible]!"

All right, then. No fight, no fun, but a foot-race. "The bottle holders" lowered their pole, the hat-dropper elevated his hat—"one, two, three," down, and the contest commenced.

The race was a laughable one. Buck Bradley, a great strapping fellow, as ugly a man as well could be, and almost as large, won it and possessed himself of the bottle. This, as the reader must understand, made him groomsman, and ranked him above all present save the bridegroom himself; and now his next duty was to repair to the house and select from among the many anxious candidates a bridesmaid. Off he went, still puffing and blowing from the effects of the race.

"Come on, all of yer!" was soon proclaimed from the door, and on we all went, for the critical moment had arrived.
